Firefly Diagnostic and Behavioral Health

Services specializes in the comprehensive psychological testing and evaluation for toddlers, children, adolescents and adults experiencing a variety of developmental, behavioral, and learning differences. This includes challenges associated with developmental delays, intellectual functioning, learning difficulties, and other developmental disabilities, such as autism spectrum disorders.

To ensure the most inclusive assessment of an individual's current functioning, Firefly Diagnostic and Behavioral Health Services employs a multidimensional modality when completing evaluations

Utilizing data from standardized diagnostics tools along with collateral information from relevant stakeholders (i.e., parents, educators, doctors, and therapists), Firefly Diagnostic and Behavioral Health Services offers the ability to assess a variety of cognitive, behavioral, and social-emotional domains to best understand an individual's strengths and weaknesses pertaining to the following aspects of functioning:

- Attention and concentration
- Verbal and visual memory
- Auditory and visual processing
- Visual spatial functioning
- Language and reading skills
- Sensory development and sensory integration
- Gross and fine motor development
- Social skill development
- Executive functioning
- Emotional and personality development
- Adaptive Skill Development

Aligning with the latest methods of diagnosis and treatment, Firefly Diagnostic and Behavioral Health Services recognizes that each individual presents with his or her own unique differences, which is why it has been integrated into our mission statement to ensure each evaluation, diagnosis, and recommendation is specifically tailored to meet the individualized needs of every client.

Firefly Autism offers complete diagnostic testing for individuals ages 18 months to 99+.

The dedicated team helps our families navigate the entire scope of care expenses – from obtaining authorizations if applicable, to scheduling, we strive to make our services as accessible as possible.
